— HAMTRAMCK'S NEWSPAPER OF RECORD —

Despite the bitter cold, Paczki Day was another success

Quick Hits

Is it that time again?
This Sunday (March 10) at 2 a.m. daylight-saving time returns. That's when we set our clocks one hour ahead.

In other words, it's time to "spring ahead."

That's one encouraging sign that spring indeed is just around the corner, arriving here on March 20 – which is just a week-and-a-half away.

This has been a long and bitter cold winter, and everyone is over and done with it. Except winter keeps hanging on.

Fortunately, temperatures return to what we should normally have this Saturday. It's going to be in the mid-40s. That's going to feel like a heat wave compared to this past week's single digit lows.

Here's a reminder.

Our new business directory for 2019 is now available. The directories have already been distributed house-to-house.

The directory is a guide to all of our city businesses, which includes their addresses and phone numbers.

There is only one thing we can say about this year's Paczki Day.

Brrrrrrrrrr. Which is the second time we have said that about this winter.

Most of us thought, that with Paczki Day arriving in early March (instead of February as it usually does), Old Man Winter would be done with us.

Not so. Instead, we got bitter cold temps, and with the windchill factored in, it ended up minus-something degrees.

But... paczki lovers persevered.

They stood for hours outside of the bakeries, as they usually do. They walked the streets, going from bar to bar.

They – or many of them – were either plain old drunk, or clearly suffering from paczki fever.

But hey, this is Hamtramck's own National Holiday. It's our version of Mardi Gras, and everyone was feeling fine.

See you next year, folks.

Stadium fundraiser scores a hit

By Charles Sercombe

Detroit rocker Jack White was the first to step up to the plate.

White, who now lives in Nashville, pitched in $10,000 toward an online fundraiser, which started last Monday, to replace the grass field at the historic Hamtramck baseball stadium.

The Piast Institute and the Friends of Historic Hamtramck Stadium launched a fundraiser at patroncity.com/hhs with the hope to raise at least $50,000.

By the time The Review went to press Thursday, over $23,000 had been pledged.

If the $50,000 goal is met, the Michigan Economic Development Corporation will kick in a matching $50,000.

The online campaign runs until April 2. If the money comes through, the field will accommodate baseball, cricket, soccer and community events.

While that will be enough money to replace the field's surface, it will still be far from what is needed to renovate the entire stadium.

There are three different plans for renovating the stadium that range from a low-cost one of $4 million to a top shelf plan costing $18.9 million.

That high-end plan entails building a complete entertainment complex.

There was no comment from White, but he is no stranger to Hamtramck.

His band, the White Stripes, got their early start at the Metro Times Blowout Festivals held in Hamtramck back in the 1990s. The White Stripes went onto international stardom.

White also was a steady customer at the former Henry the Hatter store on Jos. Campau.

The stadium is only one of a handful surviving from the famed National Negro League. The Detroit Stars once played at the stadium.

There was a time when African-Americans were not allowed to play in the white-only major leagues. The color line was eventually broken in the 1950s and 1960s.

Some legendary players once played at the Hamtramck Stadium, including Satchel Paige, possibly the best pitcher ever, and Detroit's own Norman "Turkey" Stearns, whose daughter still lives in the area.

As for funding the bigger renovation, it is hoped that the Ralph C. Wilson, Jr. Foundation will kick in the money.

The Foundation has been donating money to communities to help encourage youth to get more active in sports.

Hopes for the Foundation to step up are not far-fetched. The Foundation has already donated $800,000 to replace the artificial turf at Keyworth Stadium, and to fund a master plan study to renovate all of Veterans Park, where the baseball stadium is located.

Early Childhood Elementary School News

It has been very busy at the Early Childhood Elementary School.

Students in the kindergarten through second grade classes went on a field trip to Schoolcraft College to experiment with HOPE Science activities.

Parents, teachers and students learned about the solar system and its properties, as well as land forms, and the weather.

In addition to a day of science there, students were treated to their favorite traveling scientist, Jupiter Jaye. Students learned about mixtures and compounds, different types of waves, and the weather.

Students also participated in hands-on experiments making homemade chalk and bubbles. They later learned about the light spectrum and sound waves.

On February 28, our staff welcomed parents to parent-teacher conferences. Teachers discussed the progress each student has made and how working together makes a difference for the child.

Each student attending parent-teacher conferences received a free book, pencil and enjoyed some refreshments.

Students also started Reading Month in March with the celebration of Dr. Seuss' birthday.

Upcoming Events:

- March 22 – End of 3rd quarter.
- March 22 – Half Day for Horizon High School-Final Exams.
- March 28 – Report Card #3 Distributed.
- March 30-April 7 – No school for students and staff. Spring Break.
- April 8 – School resumes for all students.

Above and below: Early Childhood Elementary School students had a busy week going on a field trip and participating in science experiments.

In Our Opinion

Hamtramck's historic stadium is on track to being reborn

Good things continue to happen to Hamtramck, despite our occasional bumps in the road.

Detroit rock and roll star Jack White is donating $10,000 in the effort to renovate the field at the historic baseball stadium here in town.

The Piast Institute and the Friends of Historic Hamtramck Stadium hope to raise at least $50,000 through an online fundraiser.

Although White grew up in southwest Detroit, he has a special liking for both Hamtramck and baseball.

His band the White Stripes first began playing here in the now defunct Metro Times Blowout festivals.

He still stopped by, even when the White Stripes struck it big. We remember seeing him frequenting Henry the Hatter when it was still operating here in town.

A big thanks goes out to Jack for his support.

The Friends of Historic Hamtramck Stadium have some mighty ambitious plans for the stadium.

We are awfully lucky to have these volunteers, dedicating themselves to restore this stadium.

It is only one of a handful of stadiums still surviving from the Negro League baseball era.

Many legendary players graced that field back in the 1930s when, shamefully, black players were not allowed to play in the all-white major leagues.

It is hoped that baseball will one day return. There are plans to turn the site into a multi-sport facility, and also serve as a host for other types of entertainment offerings.

Which could make it into a huge destination location, and a major boost for Hamtramck's economy.

Check out the patronicity.com site to help bring this stadium back to life.

And again, a big thanks to Jack White for lending a helping hand.

Once again, city streets were jammed for paczki run

By Charles Sercombe

This week's arctic blast of cold took a little break for this year's annual 5K Paczki Day Run last Saturday.

Maybe it was in honor of newly-elected Gov. Gretchen Whitmer and Lt. Gov. Garlin Gilchrist, who came to participate in the run.

Once again, thousands of runners – actually about 2,000 – swarmed through the city streets.

It didn't take even the slowest runners – or walkers – very long to make the trek. The run was over in about an hour.

Afterward, runners and the curious enjoyed free paczki and cold beer in a heated tent.

A number of the participants made a day of it, and later kept our local bars and restaurants busy for most of the day.

Scenes from Saturday's annual 5K Paczki Day Run.

Odds & Ends

Shooting... Paczki Day is usually a peaceful day, with very few police incidents.

But this year things were different, unfortunately. At about 6 p.m., a drive-by shooting took place on Nagel near Commor – far from where Paczki Day festivities were going on.

Details of the shooting are still sketchy.

A 21-year-old Detroit male was injured, and two suspects are being sought, although their identities are not yet known.

Anyone with information is asked to call Hamtramck police at (313) 800-5233.

There is more than reading going at the library this weekend

By Charles Sercombe

One of the perks of the Hamtramck Music Fest is that some of the shows are absolutely free.

That goes for the Hamtramck Public Library, which is showcasing an amazing line-up of performers.

On Friday and Saturday, March 8 and 9, the library has the following schedule (as supplied by the library):

Friday, March 8

5:30 p.m., MARBRISA - A traveling gypsy who first developed her music interests in Guatemala, Marbrisa blends Latin, soul, jazz, and folk influences. Nominated for a Detroit Music Award for "Outstanding Vocalist in World Music," she collaborates with musicians throughout both Detroit and Central America; experience her lyrical voice (solo for this special performance).

www.musicpage.com/marbrisa

6:30 p.m., JACKAMO - The latest addition to the Detroit folk/acoustic scene, Jackamo offer dreamy female harmonies and a lone acoustic guitar. With original tunes influenced by artists such as Gillian Welch, The Lumineers, and Neil Young.

7:30 p.m., POST IMPERIAL JAZZ BAND - Old Time, New Time, classic jazz, and folk, country performed with sweet female harmonies, hot picking, horn shredding, and the big bottom end of legendary Tuba Tom. Featuring members of Detroit Pleasure Society, Lac La Belle, and the Detroit Party Marching Band.

Saturday, March 9

3 p.m., WORKSHOP - Found Sounds: Inventing and playing homemade musical instruments. Explore making instruments with items in your home with musician extraordinaire Norma Jean Haynes. Ages 7 and up. Norma Jean Haynes is a musician and educator who performs her own original compositions for banjo and ukulele, along with traditional song and dance.

She is the author of "Make Music!" and has studied the world's folk music, including that of Great Britain, South Africa, Bosnia-Herzegovina, and the Appalachian region of the United States.

4 p.m., RICANSTRUCTION - RicanStruction dance and drum troupe focus on the presentation of African Hispanic culture and history, with an emphasis on the Afro Puerto Rican community-building tradition of Bomba.

5 p.m., HAMTRAMCK PUBLIC SCHOOLS ELEMENTARY HONORS CHOIRS - Students in the Holbrook and Dickinson West Elementary schools come together for an hour of rehearsal each week, beyond typical music class.

6 p.m., BANGLA SCHOOL OF MUSIC - Award-winning steel guitar player Akram Hosain, began Bangla School of Music to help connect American-born youth to their native tongue – via music.

Experience beautiful traditional Bangladeshi songs performed by students ages six to adult, with vocals, harmonium and tabla.

Now that Paczki Day is over, it's time for the music festival

By Alan Madlane

The Hamtramck Music Fest is upon us. Can you feel it?

If not, we bet you can hear it.

Opening last night only at the Ant Hall/Ghost Lounge complex on Caniff (after this paper went to press), nine acts were slated to take to the two stages in what was billed as the "Opening Night Party."

The real meat starts sizzling today, when some 96 scheduled acts are dispersed over two dozen local venues; Saturday follows up with an even-greater count of 105 more acts. Detroit Threads hosts eight of these on Saturday all by itself, beginning at 4 p.m.

Other participating bars include Outer Limits Lounge, Bumbo's, Kelly's Bar, Small's, Whiskey in the Jar, Baker Streetcar, Polka Dot Lounge, The Polish Sea League, Trixie's, Sanctuary, High Dive, Barter and the Painted Lady Lounge.

Additional watching-and-listening spots are P.L.A.V. Posts 6 & 10, the Moose Lodge, the Hamtramck Public Library, Bank Suey, Café 1923, the Polish Village Café, and the Delite Café.

The acts are far too numerous to list here, numbering as they do 213 (up from the official posted 209 on the website, unless a couple bands are playing more than once).

All-access wristbands are $15 available at over 20 local record stores and such, listed on the festival's website.

You can also buy wristbands at the festival headquarters, 10225 Jos. Campau, between 7 p.m. and 1 a.m.

However you get there – just get there. As for us, like Savoir Faire, we'll try to be everywhere.

High school drama students get a special deal to see 'Hamilton'

By Charles Sercombe

Hamtramck High School drama students are being offered a theater ticket most folks would kill for.

The Broadway smash hit "Hamilton" is coming to town soon, and while most theater-lovers will scramble just to find high-priced tickets, HHS drama students can see the show for a mere $10 bill.

And yes – a ten spot is also known as a "Hamilton."

But there is a catch.

They have to work for it.

The students had to read material that Alexander Hamilton wrote while he and other founding fathers of the country formed our government.

After that, they had to come up with a creative performance to reflect on what they learned. Drama coach Nancy Walter said that took the form of poetry, rap, skits and creative writing.

The best of the performances were recorded, and then sent to the folks who produce "Hamilton." HHS students will be competing against other area drama students for a chance to perform their pieces on stage before the show.

In the meantime, the students need financial help to offset the cost of renting buses, as well as to cover the cost of the tickets.

A number of fundraisers are being held.

At the Polish Sea League (at Edwin and Brombach), two "Hamilton Happy Hours" will be held on March 8 and 15, from 3-6 p.m.

The suggested donation is $5, which will get you pizza and $1 off drinks.

At Trixie's Bar (2656 Carpenter) on March 13, a trivia night will be held starting at 6:30 p.m.

They are asking for a $10 donation. They are also asking that teams consist of no more than five people. Don't have a team? You can join up with
