State urges students to mask up

By Alan Madlane

The state of Michigan is hoping your kids, and their teachers, will mask up.

And Hamtramck Public Schools were ahead of the curve on it.

According to a recent press release issued by the state, 179 districts in the state, covering more than 53 percent of students, are covered either by their own school district's mask requirements, and/or by requirements put forth by local county health departments.

The press release was issued specifically in the wake of Wayne County implementing their own mask requirement policy earlier that day, which in effect reinforces the Hamtramck policy at a higher level.

Masking up is being stressed in the wake of the newer Delta Variant, which is known to be substantially more contagious than even the

Celebrate the end of summer with the Labor Day Festival

By Charles Sercombe

Hamtramck's celebration of the year once again takes over the north part of Jos. Campau this weekend.

After taking last year off due to the Covid pandemic, the Hamtramck Labor Day Festival is coming back, Sept. 4-6.

It's a bit scaled down though: the Polish Day Parade is now a thing of the past, at least here in Hamtramck, and there will be just one music stage instead of two.

But hey, for many of us, being able to meet up outside and see old friends is something we'll take whenever we can.

Mickey Lyons, a festival organizer, had this to say

The Hamtramck Labor Day Festival returns this weekend after being forced to cancel last year's festival because of the Covid pandemic. The festival is scaled back this year, but it still offers plenty for everyone.

about the festival returning:

"Missing the festival last year was just a complete bummer, and we're glad to be roaring back at it in 2021.

"We're dedicated to providing an experience that's family-friendly, health- and safety-conscious; and the carnival rides and midway will be a great time for the kids who really missed it-

Move over Hamtramck, Taylor now also shares a part of Little League history

By Alan Madlane

Hamtramck's heroes finally have some company.

The Little League World Series, first played between Pennsylvania teams in 1947, had only produced one other winner from Michigan in its 75-year history, and that team was the 1959 squad from Hamtramck.

Taylor North, a team from the downriver suburb of Taylor, beat a team from Hamilton, Ohio this past Sunday, Aug. 29, in Williamsport, PA, making them World Series champs.

The Taylor team faced a gauntlet to get to the top, including a team from recent powerhouse Hawaii

It's back to school next week

By Charles Sercombe

Summer vacation is over, kids.

This coming Tuesday, Sept. 7, is the first day of school for Hamtramck Public School District students.

In-person classroom learning has returned, and that will require students and staff to mask up - whether you have a vaccination or not.

Those who are 12 years and older can currently receive vaccinations. It is expected that vaccinations for younger students will be available later this year.

Masking up is not only a district rule, but it is also being required by Wayne County and is being urged by Gov. Gretchen Whitmer.

The return to school coincides with the spread of the Delta variant of COVID-19, which is infecting younger people, and which is the reason for another surge of new Covid cases, in the state and nationally.

About 98 percent of new COVID-19 cases are among the unvaccinated, according to health officials.

There has been no word on whether the state will once again shut down in-person learning if the spread of Covid becomes

Hamtramck students can still have the option to stay home and learn online, but parents will be required to make a commitment to making sure their student is actively engaged at home with that dealt them their only loss in the tourney. Taylor North then got revenge on Hawaii in the semi-final rematch, by a 2-1 score.

Hamtramck's team won it all in 1959, while being led by the incomparable Art "Pinky" Deras, who, like many even today in Little Leagues, served as a dual threat by both hitting and pitching.

Deras, who is retired from the Warren Police Department, just turned 75, and had this say to The Review about the new champs being only the second team from Michigan to win the series:

"I'm surprised it took so long! I never thought it would take 62 years, but I wish them the best."

That's something you never see done at the Major League level, save for recent Japanese phenom Shohei Otani of the Los Angeles Angels.

The folks over at Historic Hamtramck Stadium weighed in on Taylor North's accomplishment in a statement, while feting the local team that "won the 1959 championship in Williamsport on August 29, 1959 – 62 years ago (to the day)."

The Hamtramck Historical Museum also acknowledged Taylor North's win, while reminding everyone of Hamtramck's team as well, saying "Congratulations go to the Taylor North team. ... But for us, the World ... Champs will always be the 1959 Hamtramck Squad."

"They brought joy to the city in capturing that title, which hasn't been duplicated by any other team from Michigan until this year. So with all due respect to Taylor North, we tip our hats to Pinky Deras and the Hamtramck players who made sports history back in 1959."

The museum then graciously extended an invitation to Taylor North to visit the museum, and swap tales of the twin conquests.

Michigan is one of only 14 states with at least one title team, and one of only nine states with at least two winners. California leads all US teams with seven winners; no other state has more than four.

But even that pales next to Taiwan's 17 titles (all from between the years of 1969-96, with none since), or recent powerhouse Japan's 11, including seven crowns since the year 2000.

Since they last won in 2017, Hawaii had then won in 2018; River Ridge, Louisiana triumphed in 2019; and then last year's contest was scratched.

So, nice going Taylor, for making Michigan proud.

But also, for giving Hamtramckans a chance to relive that long-ago glory of their own, from back in a time when the sport – and a certain, storied Little League team – stood tall.

In Hamtramck, 1959 World Series champ still stands out

By Alan Madlane

One of Hamtramck's favorite sons is finding himself back in the local spotlight.

Art "Pinky" Deras (his Polish grandmother gave him the nickname, never explaining why) is known to many as the greatest Little League baseball player to have played the game.

He was the unquestioned leader of the dozen-plus-player team that won it all in 1959. And it's a team getting shone down upon once more, because a Michigan team just won it all again, 62 years to the day later.

That team came from nearby Taylor. But the effect is, that many around here are moved to recall the earlier team: their glorious run to the top of the heap, and the player who carried them there on his back.

Baseball is one of the team games, that's true. But sometimes, a player is just that good, that he rises above.

Art Deras rose to heights that were dizzyingly amazing.

In that fabled 1959 season, Hamtramck got to the Little League World Series by winning nine of their first ten games by shutout.

In the finals, Deras one-hit Puerto Rico, hit a grand slam in a semi-final 7-1 win over Hawaii, and demolished West Auburn, California in a 12-0 championship game rout.

How about these 1959 season stats for Deras: As a pitcher, 18 starts: 18 complete game wins, 16 by shutout, 10 by no-hitter. He struck out 298 batters, only allowed 26 outs to be made in the field, and only walked 10.

Impressed yet? Well consider that he also hit .641 as a batter, with 33 home runs and 112 runs batted in.

After leading Hamtramck to the Little League final, he led a team of 13- and 14-year-olds to the Pony League World Series Championship two years later.

Tom Paciorek, another local hero, and teammate from that latter squad, who played for 18 years in the Major Leagues, remembers Deras as a physical specimen who seemed to be more mature than the other kids.

"At 12 years old, he was bigger, taller and stronger than the rest of us, and the greatest player ever at that age," Paciorek told the National Polish American Sports Hall of Fame.

"He was just so much better than the rest of us."

So what became of Deras?

In the end, he never played higher than AA ball.

Let's back up.

He won letters all four years in high school in baseball – and in football, as well. He had matured into a six-foot-two, 200-plus-pound quarterback. He had a full scholarship waiting for him at Michigan State University under then-coach Duffy Daugherty.

But he followed his first love. baseball – and the money, which his family needed – and signed with the St. Louis Cardinals for an $80,000 bonus.

Why not with the Tigers? They got outbid.

Unfortunately, in a five-year minor league career, he never pitched an inning; the Cardinals tried to convert him to a third baseman, and then to the outfield.

He played 518 games in the minors, and only totaled 32 home runs. His best year at the plate, he hit .269 – for the Arkansas Travelers of the Texas League,

Friend's handicap inspires entrepreneur to design a special app

(Editor's note: Hamtramck, like many communities, is home to families with members who have autism. A friend of The Review, Carl Weideman, has a son, Steve, who has invented a special app for families facing the struggles of meeting the needs of their family members.)

By Tracy Wilson

Special to The Review

Growing up, Steve Weideman said, his best friend's brother Chris had severe intellectual disabilities. Spending time with Chris inspired Weideman to volunteer with various special needs programs at his local school.

"I didn't even realize he was autistic until fourth or fifth grade, and people started treating him differently," said Weideman, a junior at Hillsdale College. "They've been pretty much my second family."

Through his involvement with autistic individuals, Weideman said he learned that the state of Michigan pays up to 20 hours of respite care per week per individual. He said many families struggle to coordinate with state-approved caregivers.

"Especially with profoundly autistic individuals, they have certain behaviors or conditions that people see on paper and say, 'Oh, I'm okay with that,' but once they get there, will freak a lot of people out," Weideman said. "You have this issue where they come in, stay for an hour, and then they're gone. What are you gonna do? It's not like you're paying for it, so your recourse is very limited."

Weideman, of Grosse Pointe, said he hopes his app will make the process of connecting families to caregivers and medical professionals easier.

"The thing that helps autistic people develop social skills is having constant individuals in their lives," Weideman said. "It's hard when you have caretakers like a rotating door."

Unique Care Connect is similar to other apps used to connect individuals with caregivers, such as babysitters or geriatric nurses. Weideman said his app provides services only for individuals with intellectual disabilities, which are usually not a target group on most care sites.

"Our mission is to provide quality resources to the people that need them," Weideman said.

Junior Becca Briskey,

Weideman's girlfriend, said his idea to create the app testifies to his devotion to autistic individuals.

"He loves to take care of people," Briskey said. "Especially seeing him interact with Chris and how he loves him with all his heart, it doesn't really surprise me that he would want to do something like this."

Weideman said another inspiration of his was a student named Shihab from Bangladesh with intellectual disabilities. Weideman said he learned a bit of Bengali to communicate with Shihab, and help him transition to life in the United States.

"Helping autistic kids has always been my passion," Weideman said. "This app gives me a bit of freedom to do what I want and not be so constricted. It lets me feel like I'm using my full potential."

After its projected release this past July to in August, the app will be free for everyone, aside from medical professionals who will be charged $5 for advertising fees. In order for the app to be free, Weideman said, he will rely on donations from special education communities everywhere.

"I want this app to be nationwide. I want to help as many people as we can help," Weideman said. "All I need is the contact information of the special education department or a special education teacher from peoples' hometowns."

Weideman said he believes the work he's doing has the potential to impact many families.

"As soon as this app gets going, I'll start seeing families actually benefiting from it and I can only imagine what that's going to feel like," Weideman said.

Briskey said she has loved watching Weideman grow in his pursuit of developing the app.

"It's been really rewarding because I have my own goals that I feel are so unattainable," Briskey said. "But seeing him do something like this, starting from scratch, has been really inspiring. I haven't seen anyone do that. It's the kind of thing you hear about in movies."

the same year the Tigers were winning the World Series as underdogs to those same St. Louis Cards: 1968.

While there's no question that Deras was an incredible athlete for his age, he very likely also benefited from being big for his age as well. He dominated his peers in a way perhaps never seen. For that alone, he is rightfully a legend, both here in Hamtramck, and beyond.

Deras is now 75 years old and retired from the Warren Police Department, where he worked for 30 years.

For that one glorious season of 1959, he was on top of the world. And in so achieving that pinnacle, he will long remain one of Hamtramck's favorites.

So as we celebrate Michigan being in the national spotlight for Taylor North's magnificent run in the Little League World Series, let's not forget to give a tip of the cap back to the original superstar: Art "Pinky" Deras.

first-known strains of the disease.

Compounding the issue for younger students is the fact that vaccines are still approved only for 12-year-olds on up, at this point.

"After 19 months of COVID, the science is clear," noted the press release, "vaccines and masks keep kids safe and help them continue learning in person."

This last aspect bears pondering: rather than having to mandate stay-at-home, remote learning only, these policies enable our state's youth to be able to achieve a relatively more-normal learning environment.

Good job, Hamtramck Public Schools.

In Our Opinion

Labor Day Festival is a welcomed relief

Hamtramck has been through a lot in the last year.

Just like everyone else in the nation.

We missed a lot of things that the Covid pandemic prevented from happening – namely, going out and seeing friends.

One of the things that we missed last year was the annual Hamtramck Labor Day Festival.

The good news is, it's back this weekend, Sept. 4-6. Hamtramck will once again come alive with music, good food and plenty of things for kids to enjoy.

What isn't coming back, though, is the Polish Day Parade. Organizers of the parade decided, after many years of debate, to move the parade to Warren. We wish them well.

The parade was certainly a highlight of the weekend, and it will be missed. But there is talk of starting a new parade tradition next year.

Here's to starting new traditions.

This year, we are told that money is an issue for festival organizers, and that the festival is on a shoestring budget. That's all the more reason to come out this weekend and support our own homegrown party.

Remember, too, the festival is 100 percent organized by non-paid volunteers. Over a dozen folks give up this holiday weekend, to work long hours, just to make this festival a success.

We deeply thank those folks.

Hamtramck has always been resilient, and able to rebound. This year, let's celebrate life, and the wonderful diversity of this city.

School Bell

From the Superintendent

HPS Superintendent Jaleelah Ahmed had this welcome back message for district students and families on her Facebook page:

"As you may have heard, Wayne County Public Health Division today released a mask mandate effective immediately. All staff, students and visitors, both vaccinated and unvaccinated, are required by law to wear face masks in Wayne County schools.

"In our commitment to the safety and wellbeing of our students, Hamtramck Public Schools had already included wearing masks in our safety protocols for the new school year, so the County's mandate does not impact our district.

"That said, I stand with the health experts who made this decision, as wearing masks is an important and effective step towards maintaining our community's safety during the pandemic.

"The health of our county's vulnerable persons, including our young students who are not eligible for the COVID-19 vaccine, depend on all Wayne County individuals to comply with local mask mandates, as well as social distancing and other safety measures. To that end, I want to thank our HPS families in advance for protecting the health and safety of our community.

"As we prepare for the first day of school on Tuesday, September 7, please ensure your student(s) is ready for school.

"If you do not have masks, the schools will supply you with the masks. I also encourage families to have a conversation about personal to welcoming our students back to our buildings and for the start of another excellent school year at Hamtramck Public Schools."

"Have a wonderful school year!"

Odds & Ends

Back open... The long wait is over. The rebuilding of Caniff Ave, from the I-75 service drive to Jos. Campau Ave., ended this past week, a few days before the Sept. 1 estimate.

It certainly has that new road look and smell!

Moving up... The Hamtramck Police Department had a small celebration Tuesday afternoon, when three members of the department were officially promoted, and one new officer was welcomed.

First up, newly-minted officer Sam Cubba was sworn in by Hamtramck 31st District Court judge Alexis Krot.

Also, Eugene Tetreault was promoted to Detective; longtime veteran David Cornwell is now a Lieutenant; and Detective Luigi (Beej) Gjokaj is now back to wearing a uniform, with the new rank of Sergeant.

Update... The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) will be staying in Hamtramck City Hall until Sept. 13, which is the deadline for residents to file damage claims from the June 25-26 flooding incident.

FEMA will be located on the second floor of city hall every day of the week, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. FEMA workers will help you process a damage claim – and, if you are familiar with government forms, they can be daunting.

Disaster assistance is currently available for residents in Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

It's suggested that, before you visit the recovery center in person, you should pre-register, either online at DisasterAssistance.gov, or by using the FEMA phone app, or by calling (800) 621-3362.

The phone line can be accessed seven days a week, from 7 a.m. to 11 p.m.

If you do go to city hall, mask wearing is mandatory.

Also in city hall are employees with the Small Business Administration, who can help business owners file for low-interest loans to get back on their feet from the flooding damage.

Parade... One of our favorite celebrations was held Saturday evening: the local Hindu community held their annual parade, in town, to celebrate the birth of Lord Krishna.

As usual, it was a colorful and joyous celebration.

Hamtramck's Hindu community held a parade last Saturday in honor of the birth of Lord Krishna.

Obituaries

CARTER

Bennie Carter, 79, died, August 31, 2021.

Mr. Carter was the beloved father of Donna (Marty) Brown, Virginia (Rick Baysdell), Lisa (the late Christopher Gach), and Sean (Amy); grandfather of Olyvia (Kyle) O'Donnell, Marty Brown Jr., Marissa Brown, Jessica Baysdell, Kristin Baysdell, Heather Carter, Sebastian, and Chase; great grandfather of Starletta. A special thank you to our guardian angel, Lorraine Zwierzchowski (better known as Auntie) for always being there.

Bennie was a lifetime resident of Hamtramck, and he loved the town. He was a coin and stamp collector and was an avid supporter of the Wayne County Sheriff's. Most people would see Bennie during his "walks" around town stopping at various local establishments.

His family is having a private service and would like everyone to give "cheers" to Bennie. Arrangements entrusted to Jurkiewicz & Wilk Funeral Home.

ERTMAN

Dean Elliott Ertman (Deano), 64, died August 29, 2021.

Mr. Ertman was born in Detroit Michigan on June 4, 1957, and peacefully left us on August 29, 2021. Dean is survived by his love of 25 years, Martha Sharp (Marti); his loving daughters Olivia and Amanda (Danielle) Ertman; son, Dominic; stepchildren, Stephanie and Brian Sharp; grandchildren Julius, Selena, papa to Niko; brothers, Lance (Brenda) and Dewey (Dawn); nieces and nephews. He is predeceased by his mother, Bernice; father, Sylvester "Elmer"; brother, Gary; sister, Sherri.

Deano was a great man. He had a big heart and was willing to have open arms for any one of us who needed it. He didn't ask for much to keep him happy, just a swing of a golf club or cast of a rod made him smile. Deano loved the outdoors and camping. He will always be known as The Grill Master with a Bud in hand. He was a great Papa to his grandchildren and a best friend to everyone. He will be missed. In lieu of flowers the family asks for donations. Visitation was Thursday September 2, 2021, at Jurkiewicz & Wilk Funeral Home.

MANDELL

Estelle Mandell (nee Zukowski), 95, died August 29, 2021.

Mrs. Mandell was the loving wife of the late Edward (2017); dear mother of Mary Ellen (David) Thompson and Michael (Pamela); grandmother of Michelle (Jason) Blake, Kim (Chad) Herron, Michael, and Shannon (Michael) Zasadny; great grandmother of Brielle, Adalyn, Bradley, and Lincoln.

Estelle was born in Detroit, attended Sweetest Heart of Mary School, graduated from the Felician Academy and Providence Hospital's School of Nursing, and retired from Bon Secour Hospital, where she was a nurse supervisor. Throughout her life, she maintained lifelong friends from her school days.

Estelle was a member of Polish Legion of American Veterans and Amvets auxiliaries, serving in many offices and committees, including local president and convention delegate. She also volunteered monthly at the Veterans Hospital in Detroit and attended conventions, social and charity events with Ed, her late husband, for veteran's groups and Knights of Columbus. Our Lady Queen of Heaven seniors was a special social group and Estelle played pinochle with them every Tuesday for many years in the church hall.

Very proud of her Polish heritage with a very giving heart, Estelle was a devout Catholic, regularly attending Mass, with prayer books, rosaries, scapulars, statues, and holy cards tucked everywhere in the house. She visited sick friends or former patients and drove family and friends to medical appointments on a regular basis.

Strong in her opinions, Estelle was very independent and feisty. She even came home a few times with her own new car, which no one in the family knew she'd ordered. She was a great cook and enjoyed baking and trying new recipes, especially for meetings and parties. Estelle enjoyed playing lottery scratch offs, sometimes uttering a few bad words, and enjoyed slot machines at the casino. She would call her children on Sunday afternoons and say, "We'll be out for the afternoon, so we'll talk tomorrow," when she and Ed planned an afternoon at the casino. Estelle loved shopping, dressed with classic style, and was known for her trademark pearls. Her granddaughters always commented, "If you want to know what's in style, just ask Grandma." She had no trouble learning how to use a cell-phone but made it clear to everyone she had no interest in computers.

Family was most important to Estelle. She spent lots of time with her children and grandchildren, attending family and special events, athletics, and dance recitals, and watching her grandchildren when they were sick, so her own children didn't have to use sick days. Even recently, she commented that family comes first, and you always help your children and take good care of your grandchildren.

Estelle was a breast cancer survivor and had two spinal surgeries in her 80's, yet she always strived to remain as independent as possible. When Ed passed away, she moved to a wonderful assisted-living facility in Sterling Heights. Always the nurse, she was never afraid to vocalize her wishes, needs, and opinions with staff, in a loving way. She was a strong, spirited woman, way ahead of her time.

The funeral Mass was Thursday, September 2, 2021, at Saint Blaze Catholic Church, Sterling Heights MI. Interment is Wednesday, September 8, 2021, 10 a.m. at Great Lakes National Cemetery, 4200 Belford Rd, Holly MI 48442.

In lieu of flowers the family asks that donations be made to the Capuchins <https://www.the-capuchins.org/donate> in Estelle's name. Arrangements by Jurkiewicz & Wilk Funeral Home.

Celebrate the end of summer with the Labor Day Festival

“But we’re also definitely all about bringing that raw Hamtramck feel. The beer and booze selection, the bands, and of course the canoe races have been a part of our little local festival for a long time – and they’re not going away.”

As usual, the festival features a variety of food, live music, a midway, carnival, and a whole bunch more.

The ever-popular “canoe race” is back as well, on Monday at noon.

If you’ve never experienced this, consider yourself warned: whether you like it or not, you will be directly involved.

How so?

Onlookers are encouraged to bring water balloons to throw at the race participants, and it’s likely you’ll be on the receiving end as well.

It’s wet and wild.

As for the canoes, they are homemade carts in the shape of pizza slices, and run by two people.

It’s rowdy – even slightly nutty and dangerous – and uniquely Hamtramck.

Another highlight is the return of International Big Time Wrestling on Sunday at 2 p.m. This is a proven crowd-pleaser, and for the photographers out there, it offers some fun people watching.

Sunday evening is also known as a Hamtramck reunion night, where old friends meet up. As usual, Danny D hits the stage at 5 p.m., and he is then followed by longtime favorites The Polish Muslims at 7 p.m.

The festival runs from noon to 10 p.m. each day. For more information, visit hamtownfest.com.

See you near the beer tent!
