Now that fall has settled in, there's nothing better than a bowl of chili to ward off the colder temperatures.

You can enjoy some chili this Saturday (Nov. 3), and also help a good cause.

The good folks at PLAV Post 10 are hosting a chili cook-off from 3 to 6 p.m. Proceeds will be used to provide a Thanksgiving dinner to homeless and disabled veterans.

Admission is only $5, and that allows you to get a sample from each cook. And there will be entertainment and plenty of cold, cold beer to counter the hot chilies.

Post 10 is located at 11824 Jos. Campau.

The folks at Piast Institute will have a special visitor coming in a couple of weeks. Here's the low-down:

"The Consulate General of the Republic of Poland in Chicago would like to inform you that it is organizing a consular visit the 17th and 18th of November. It will be held at the Piast Institute, located at 11633 Jos. Campau.

State Democratic big shooters attend election rally to urge voters to vote

By Charles Sercombe

Some of the state's leading Democratic office holders and candidates came out in force Sunday evening.

The Michigan Bangladeshi American Democratic Caucus held an election rally at Gates of Columbus Hall, and US Senators Gary Peters and Debbie Stabenow were on hand to urge voters to get out and vote this Nov. 6.

Also on hand were Democratic candidates Gretchen Whitmer and Garlin Gilchrist, who are running for governor and lieutenant governor respectively; Dana Nessel, who is seeking the job of state attorney general; Jocelyn Benson, who is running for secretary of state; Brenda Lawrence, who is seeking another term in congress for the district that includes Hamtramck; and a host of others on the Democratic ticket.

A number of those speaking reminded the 300 people attending the packed hall that the Democrats can't afford a repeat of 2016.

That was when presidential candidate Hillary Clinton lost to Donald Trump.

District court judge pledges to maintain flags in Zussman Park

By Charles Sercombe

Thanks to Hamtramck 31st District Court Judge Alexis Krot, city hall will never run out of American flags to fly in Zussman Park – which is located across from the building.

On Monday a small gathering of folks and veterans held a flag donation ceremony in the park.

Krot and her husband, Dave Salamas, have pledged to make sure worn out flags flying in the park will be replaced. The pair will also maintain the Michigan state flag and the POW/MIA flag that flies under the American flag.

Krot said the flags "represent our country and our values."

Future of dispensaries is doubtful

By Charles Sercombe

The chances of Hamtramck allowing medical marijuana dispensaries looks pretty iffy at this point.

According to sources, a majority of city councilmembers may back off from adopting a set of ordinances that would regulate dispensaries and grow facilities.

Former Democratic candidate for governor Abdul El-Sayed spoke in favor of allowing medical marijuana dispensaries at a packed meeting in the library Tuesday evening.

That's because of the massive turnout at a town hall meeting held Tuesday night at the public library. About 120 people showed and most objected to allowing such facilities to locate here.

Most of those in attendance were in support of the ordinance.

State Democratic big shooters attend election rally to urge voters to vote ton was leading by a wide-margin over Donald Trump, according to polls at the time. She lost Michigan by 10,000 votes.

Some have argued that was because many voters sat out the election.

Dr. Nazmul Hassan

Shahim said this election is an opportunity to “turn the table” on Republicans, who now control both houses in congress.

“We can’t make the same mistake as 2016,” he said. “Don’t stay home.”

Whitmer, who was greeted like a rock star when she entered the hall, said she needs Democrats elected to key positions in state government.

“I need them to have our back,” she said.

As of Thursday, when The Review went to press, Whitmer was leading against her Republican opponent, Bill Schuette, according to polls.

She also complimented those attending, who were mostly from the Bengali community.

“You are an important part of this state,” Whitmer said.

Congress member Brenda Lawrence said her district (the 14th) is a perfect example of what “America looks like,” referring to its ethnic diversity.

“The Bangladeshi community is going to be a part of the blue wave,” she said.

On the importance of people voting in this election, she said it’s a matter of “fighting for our lives. This is a rally, but this has to equate to votes.”

Senator Peters urged voters to vote “yes” on Proposal 2, which would end elected officials from determining voting districts, or as it is commonly referred to, “gerrymandering.”

Senator Stabenow said getting people out to vote can push back special interests and big-moneyed campaigns. She said it doesn’t matter if you are rich or poor when it comes to elections.

“Election Day is the great equalizer. ... We all get one vote,” she said. “We have to use our power to vote.”

Democratic candidate Jocelyn Benson was one of several prominent candidates who attended a political rally on Sunday at Gates of Columbus Hall.

Holbrook Elementary School News

Holbrook students have had a very busy couple of weeks.

On National Walk to School Day, students joined Sgt. David Cornwell, Corporal Nikole Jabour and Officer Eugene Tetreault at Grayling and Lumpkin and walked together to the school.

Thank you officers for caring about the students and for the information about walking and crossing the streets safely to school.

Last week on Tuesday, students from the Kindergarten and the 2nd grade walked all the way from Holbrook School on Grayling St. to Caniff St. where they visited the Albert J. Zak Memorial Library.

Once there they were read a story and learned how they can obtain a library card so they can check out books from the library. A second stop was made at the Hamtramck Fire Department, where the students were taught about “stop, drop, and roll” and safety during a fire.

The students received a coloring book, crayons and a pencil with a fire department related eraser.

On Wednesday, the sixth graders were invited to sing at the WIDA Annual Conference. The students performed in front of

This is quite an honor and we are so proud of our students and their music teacher Maxwell Spayde for their mesmerizing performance. They received a standing ovation from all in attendance.

Thursday, the Kindergarten, First and Second

Grades visited Wiards Orchard. After the bus ride to the orchard, the students explored the many things to do there.

They took a wagon ride through a haunted forest, a walk through the haunted mine, slid on the high and low slides and also climbed on a straw pyramid.

The students had fun with all those activities! They were able to pick an apple straight from the trees and a pumpkin from the pumpkin patch.

The students enjoyed a cinnamon donut and a glass of cider before returning to Holbrook School to complete their day. As you can see Holbrook is a busy fun place to learn.

Election 2018: Our Endorsements for local office

There are two local elections coming up on Election Day, Nov. 6.

One race is for the Hamtramck Public School Board and the other is for Hamtramck 31st District Court Judge.

The school board race has two positions, one of which no one signed up to be a candidate before the ballots were printed. Board President Magdalena Srodek is seeking re-election.

School Boardmember Ataur Khan initially did not want to seek another term, but he has since changed his mind and is now running as a write-in candidate.

Also running as a write-in candidate is Jihan Aiyash.

The two highest vote-getters will fill the two board seats.

Magdalena Srodek has proved to be a competent and conscientious team player. She has served as board president with a fair hand and a passion in getting board members and the public involved.

There are some important issues coming up for the school district – namely working with the Ralph C. Wilson Foundation to seek grants to make huge improvements at Keyworth Stadium and Veterans Park.

We need Srodek’s experience to continue the huge strides the district has been making in recent years. Now is not the time to bring in an inexperienced person to replace her.

We highly recommend the re-election of MAGDALENA SRODEK for another term on the board.

Ataur Khan has also proved to be a team player. Although often quiet during board meetings he has been a faithful public servant, and has worked behind the scenes to make sure our students are receiving a proper education, as well as have the necessary tools to compete in the world.

We recommend voters give ATAUR KHAN another term in office.

Running for district court judge is Alexis Krot who is currently serving in that position after being appointed by Gov. Rick Snyder to fill a vacancy created when former Judge Paul Paruk stepped down to take a new job with the State Court Administration.

Challenging Krot is newcomer John Gorniak, who moved here several months ago from the suburbs to become a candidate.

While Gorniak says he has roots in the city, Krot has been living here for many years, and her family, who owns Krot Funeral Home on Caniff, has deep roots in the city.

More importantly, Krot has proved she can competently run the city’s district court, and has been sensitive to the needs of residents. This is not an easy town to be a judge in.

Many folks here do not speak fluid English and often need extra help in navigating the legal system. And this must be done with empathy and a fair hand.

ALEXIS KROT deserves to remain judge. We highly recommend voters keep her as Hamtramck’s first female District Court Judge.

Odds & Ends

Meet up... The city administration is inviting business owners to a special meeting on Nov. 14 at the Ukrainian American Archives and Museum (9630 Jos. Campau) from 6 to 7:30 p.m.

City officials will be talking about a citywide business association. At press time we didn’t have more information about this association and its goals.

Hamtramck once had a chamber of commerce, but that faded away years ago.

Holbrook repaving hits a roadblock with cold weather coming

By Charles Sercombe

The city is ditching hopes that the Holbrook repaving project can be completed before cold weather sets in.

The project was recently delayed three weeks when a labor dispute halted work.

The plan was for Holbrook to be repaved from Jos. Campau to Conant.

But that appears unrealistic. Instead, City Manager Kathy Angerer said the goal now is to make both lanes open from Jos. Campau to Gallagher.

Right now the west-bound lane in that section is under construction, and both lanes are closed.

Angerer said work will resume next spring. The project is being managed and overseen by the Michigan Department of Transportation.

A delicate balance: Cities are straining to deliver affordable water

By Michele Oberholtzer

One thing that unites all Hamtramck residents is our distress over our water bills. Bills seem to get higher and higher every year, even as we confront challenges to the quality of our water.

This year, Hamtramck has simultaneously shifted toward automated water meter reading while reducing our ability to lower our bills by saving water. Long-standing issues are being aggravated by the threat of lead contamination and the risk of water shutoffs for those who can’t afford to meet the growing costs.

Have you ever taken the time to truly understand your water bill?

You might be surprised that the biggest part of the bill is not the water usage itself, but the sewerage charge. Next there is the water charge and, lastly, a mysterious sanitation fee, which is actually a garbage pick-up fee which some claim to be a “double tax,” since it is already covered by property taxes.

Hamtramck has an ordinance which prohibits residents from challenging their water bills, so the only true choice you have is to pay or not pay – to have water or not.

In my own home, I analyzed the historical usage and costs. I found that the measured water usage in my home was the same in 2006, 2010 and 2016.

The usage was the same but the cost went up from $230 in 2006, to $341 in 2010, to a whopping $676 in 2016! The increase may have been somewhat obscured by the transition from quarterly to monthly billing in 2014, but the total annual cost increased even as the individual bills went down.

Remember, that the changes implemented this July are not even reflected in these numbers. Under the new system, the fixed monthly charges on each water account have doubled from about $20 to about $40 before a single drop of water is used. The water that you use is an additional charge from there.

This means that even if your water is shut off, you can expect to be billed $40 each month on top of your existing balance. And, don’t forget, if you can’t afford to pay on time, you can expect late fees, shut-off fees, and reconnection fees.

Fortunately, I have the ability to pay my water bills, but the strain of providing access to water is real for Hamtramck residents.

Hamtramck’s water shut-off procedures are extremely aggressive – hundreds of residents receive water shutoff notices each month for debts as low as $5 (which is probably less than the cost of issuing the notice!).

There are some water resources, such as the WRAP program, which can assist low-income households to pay off delinquent water bills. But WRAP does not apply for people whose water is already shut off, has limited funds, and is not widely known in the Hamtramck community, especially across language barriers.

Every year, council has the chance to approve a new rate structure for water. 2019 will provide another opportunity to push back against a rate structure that neither rewards nor incentivizes Hamtramckans from conserving water and, instead, provides real pathways for affordable water.

In Michigan, we are so fortunate to have access to abundant clean water resources, but we cannot take the availability of this resource for granted.

For the past few months, I have been waiting for a call back from the City of Hamtramck to alert me when it will be my turn to have a new automatic water meter installed.

As of this week, I have joined another queue – the line of residents waiting to have our water tested for lead.

Local government is a balancing act of limited resources and seemingly endless demands. and the challenge is great, but the stakes for clean and affordable water are high enough that we must work together to prioritize an infrastructure that both delivers water and serves its people.

If you have a problem with your water bill and need help paying it, contact WRAP at (313) 386-9727. If you want to report a shut-off or water bill issue.

Hamtramck's newest mural made its official debut on a recent Sunday.

Called "Bangladesh: Coming to America," it covers the east wall of Bridge Academy on Carpenter, which is technically on the Detroit side of the Hamtramck-Detroit border.

The project was sponsored by OneHamtramck, a local community group. Some $56,000 was raised to cover the costs for the mural, which included hiring artist Victor "Marka27" Quinonez.

It took Quinonez about a week to complete the mural, which reaches a height of 46 feet and is 55 feet wide. The main subject of this colorful mural is a Bangladeshi girl.

The mural is significant in that it depicts letters in the Bengali alphabet. At one time Pakistanis tried to force Bengalis to drop their native language and take up Urdu.

That led to violent clashes and the deaths of thousands of Bengalis.

OneHamtramck was also behind a mural depicting the Yemeni community on the side of a restaurant on Jos. Campau and Goodson.

About 100 people attended the "unveiling" on Sunday and braved cold temperatures and a biting wind during a two-hour ceremony.

Heavy voter turnout is expected for next Tuesday's election seats on the ballot, but only one incumbent, Magdalena Srodek, who is the president of the board, is seeking re-election.

Boardmember Ataur Khan initially declined to seek another term, and no one else filed to be on the November ballot — leaving one seat open.

But in the last couple of weeks Khan changed his mind and is now running as a write-in candidate.

Another person, Jihan Aiyash, has jumped into the race and is running as a write-in candidate. The two top vote-getters will fill the two seats — meaning Srodek could be knocked out of the race.

Local polling precincts open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Coming events

WEDNESDAYS, 7 p.m., every second Wednesday of the month — The 3C7 and Midtown Block meets at 2339 Caniff PCS Senior Day Center. This block club includes all residents and businesses west of Jos. Campau and north of Holbrook.

SATURDAY, November 10, 2-4 p.m. — Soup Kitchen at Holy Cross P.N.C. Church, 2311 Pulaski at Fleming. Everyone is welcome.
